

KIMBERLY DODGE, VICE PRESIDENT

With a degree from Ryerson's Interior Design program in her back pocket, five years with a Vancouver architectural design firm, and six years of A&D sales experience, Kimberly brings a wealth of skill, brand knowledge and a solid foundation of client relationships to her new role. During the past seven years, she has volunteered on several IDIBC committees extending her reach even further within the design community.

Kimberly is perhaps one of the most recognizable people within the Vancouver design scene. With her wild blond curls, outgoing personality and contagious laugh she's always willing to get involved and make things happen. Never far from her bike and when her triathlon training permits, she can be found treating herself to glass of big, bold, dynamic red wine surrounded by the natural beauty that is life in Squamish.
